reference market: contemporary art

Analog → Phygital

Problems

- 1) Productive oligopoly
- 2) Information asymmetries
- 3) Adverse selection
- 4) Moral hazard
- 5) Subjective processes as for ex. evaluation of the artworks (expertise)
- 6) Opacity of the private market

Solution: Digitalise to Industrialise

please note that the (TAM) is EXCLUSIVELY based on the public market of I and II tier. The ARTup revolution brings out data from tier II and III private markets that today are not even conceivable. There are millions of potential new target users.

Theory of attention

Period 1970-2020

- Productive oligopoly
- Industrial process
- High entry barriers
- Asymmetry and opacity

Period 2020-2030

- Democratization of production processes
- Digitization
- Removal of entry barriers
- Pricing transparency
- Automatised tailored fruition processes

TRADER

The concentration of attention on a few leading Artists in the global market favors international promoters, while mid-range promoters with turnover between € 100,000 and € 500,000 fail. The especially private market of third-tier promoters who sell works up to € 20,000 is growing

- 2000: advent of ArtFacts
- 2030: Artup forecast

Sales channels

The entire art market is going through a phase of digitisation and consequent radical transformation of production and fruition processes thanks to digital technologies that favor the processing of many data and thus the emergence of second and third tier markets.

please note that auctions are now mainly held online, as is the trend of virtual tours for fairs (here represented in the "galleries" segment)

vision

ARTup is the registration authority for contemporary art, a decentralised registry of artists, artworks, and art operators. We adopt the scientific method and a Data Driven Business Model based on disruptive technologies for offering worldwide phygital services (S.a.a.S. and P.a.a.S.), innovating the asset management and facilitating the access to the global art market and to the metaverse.

mission

ARTup aims to digitise and automate the fruition processes of the art market. We revolutionise the value chain of art by implementing the latest disruptive technologies such as: Artificial intelligence, Blockchain, I.o.T., Augmented & Virtual reality and Cripto-Assets.

Innovation

ARTup presents the A.I. "B.A.R.T.", the first digital art advisor for contemporary artists ever!

"B.A.R.T." is an open API software that automates the emulation of the Art Coefficient, the metric of the value of an artist's signature, and thus dis-intermediates the expertise certification of an artwork.

ART Coefficient

On the "freemium" artcoefficient.com platform, it is possible to interact with BART to consult the index of independent producers and their relative art coefficients; carry out the quotation (pricing) of both physical and digital contemporary works of art (see n.f.t.); create a new digital identity associated with an art signature and obtain an "art coefficient certificate". The "premium" service offers professionals an editorial space on the homepage, data analysis tools and an advertising module to create promotion and enhancement campaigns for contemporary artists and works of art. Artcoefficient.com produces a new n.f.t. "BART" associated with the Monnalisa image for each new digital identity generated.

ARTup

The ARTup.company web platform is the official web page of the ARTup company, where the mission, the business project, the roadmap, the services, the products, the team and the revolution of the patented contemporary art fruition processes are presented by ARTup s.r.l. From the artup.compay web platform you can create a profile suitable for your user segment, start the process of digitizing your business, registering and enabling the main functions to interact in the ARTup phygital ecosystem, such as creating your sovereign digital identity, open an ARTup Wallet and manage your assets through the ARTup Manager control panel.

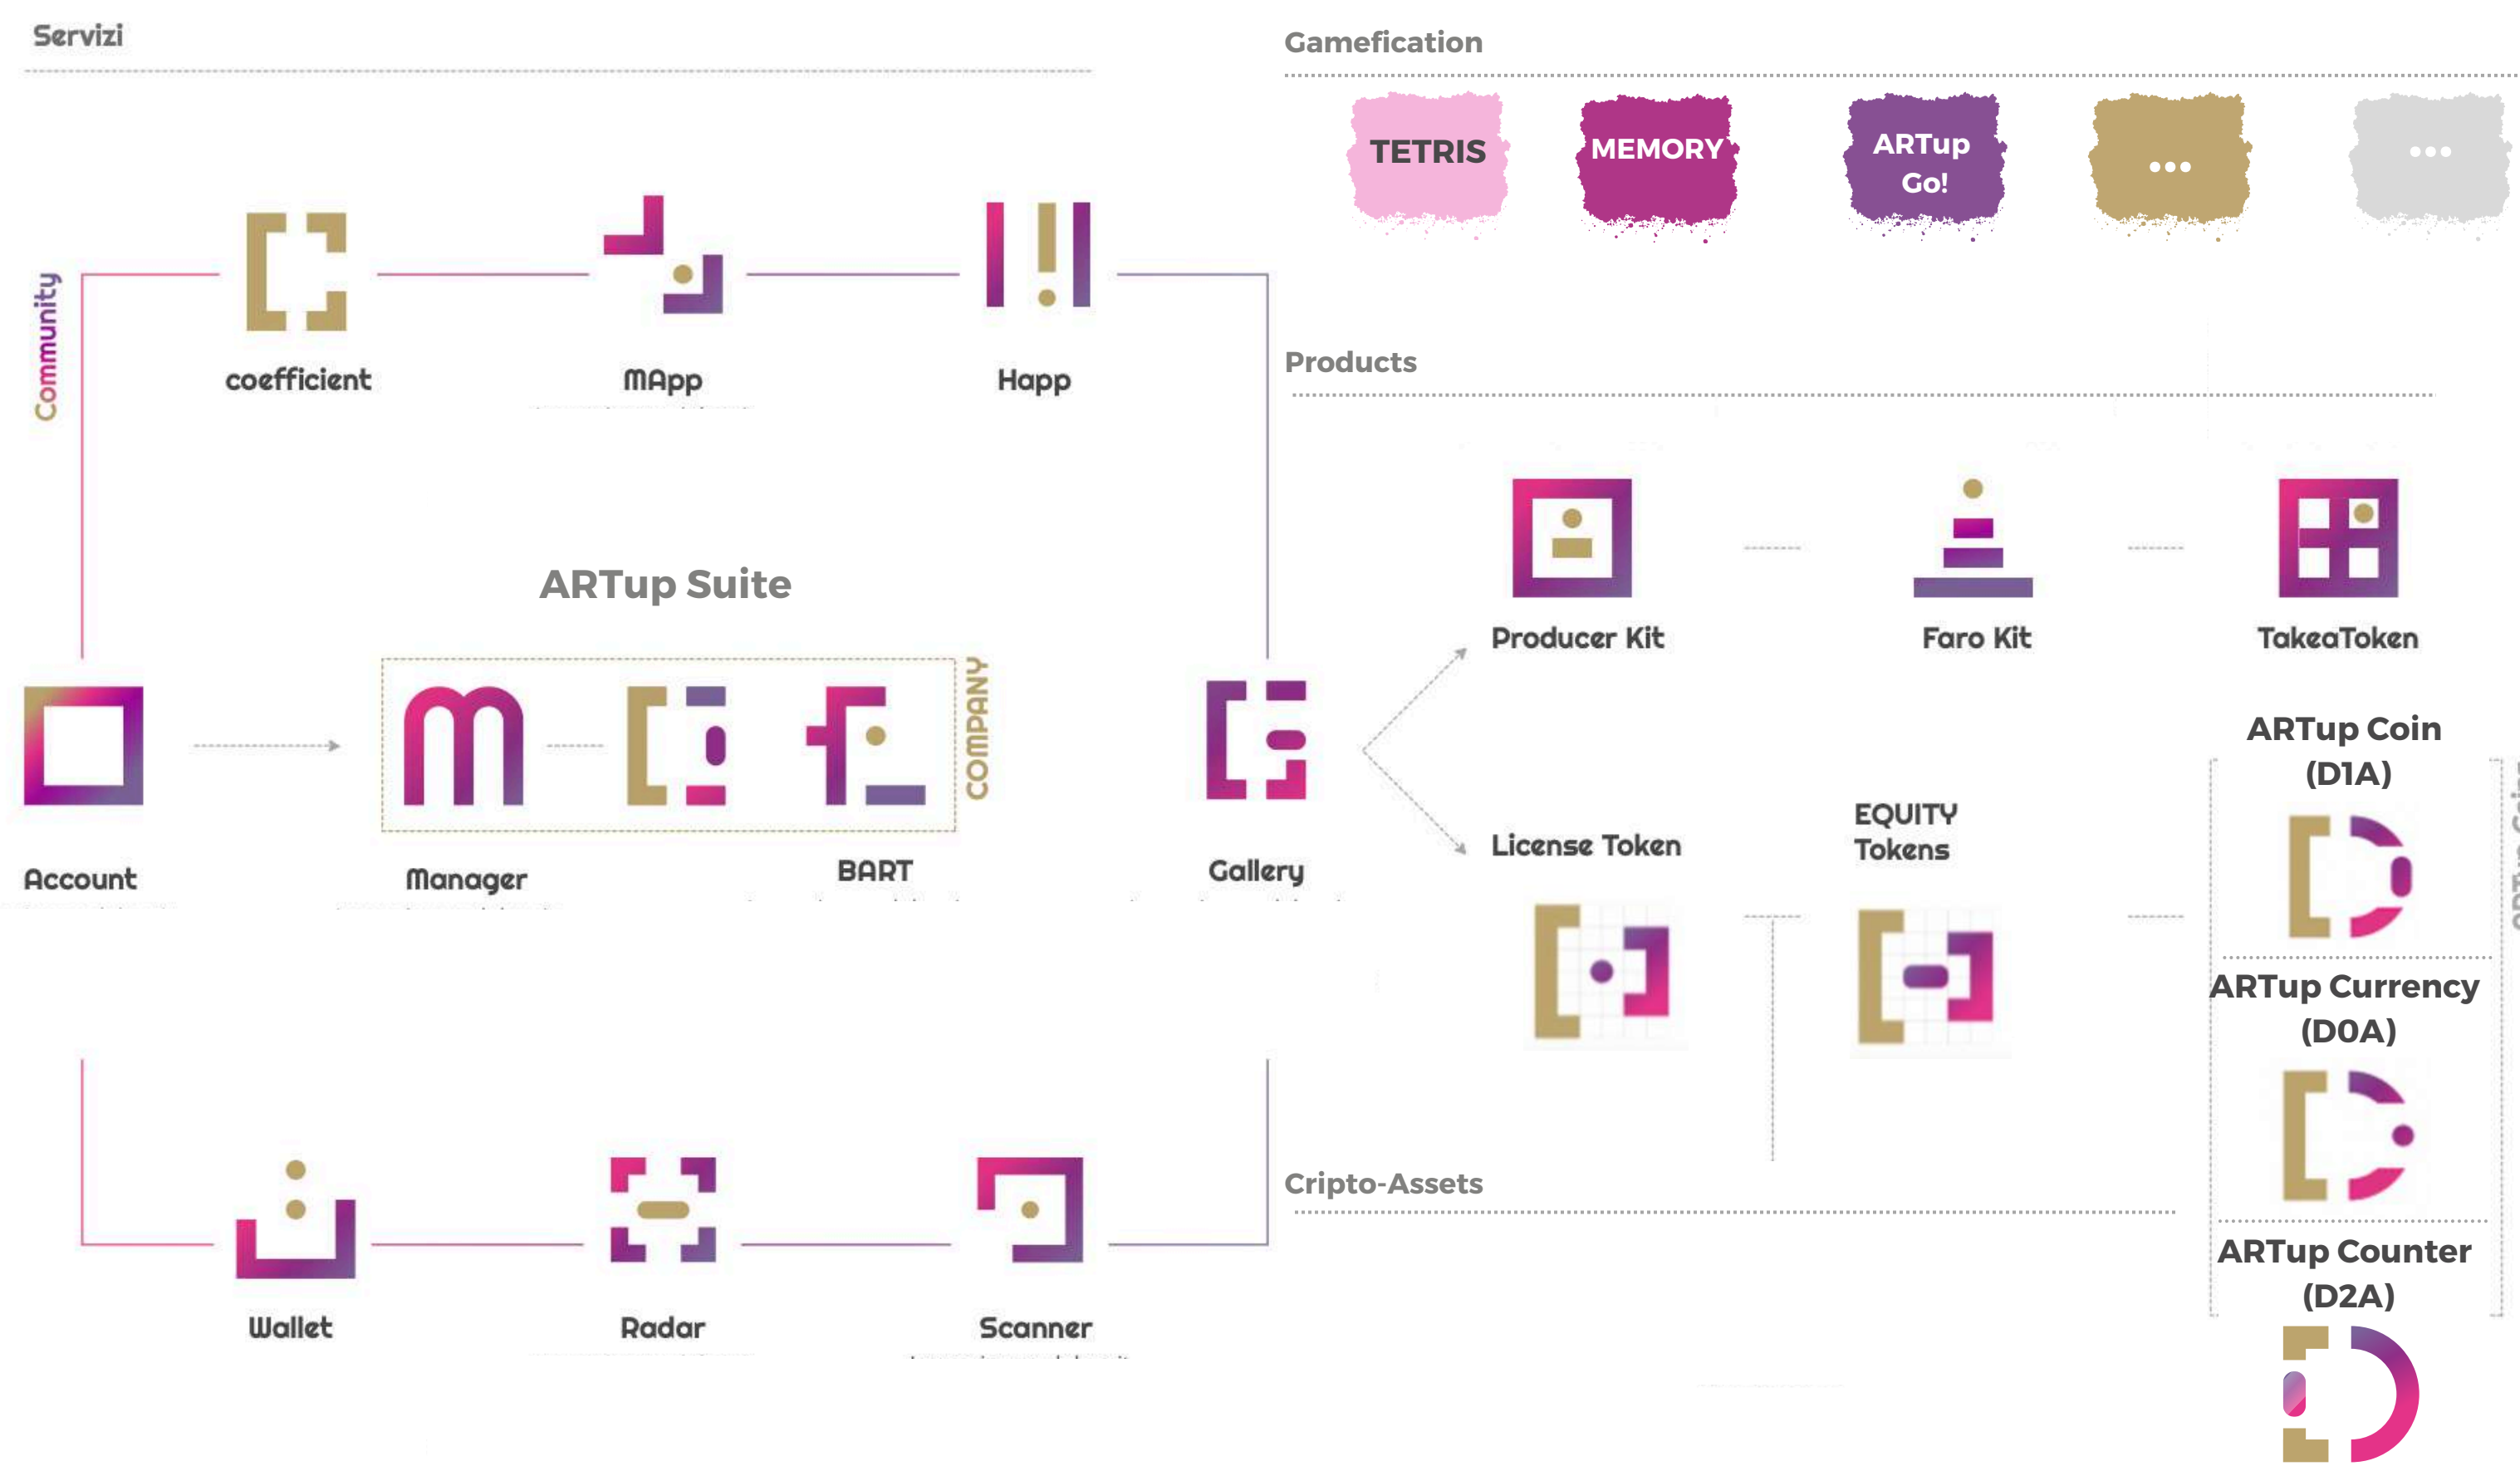

ART Gallery

The Artup.Gallery web platform offers the "freemium" service of digitization and tokenization of physical and digital artworks. For visitors and basic users, the platform offers a social experience, with a chat between users, rewarding gamification, virtual reality for the composition of "Tecatoken" the new smart-framed-quadreries patented by ARTup; widespread and decentralised market place where you can buy N.F.T. in ARTup Stabile Coin (D1A) or ARTup Volatile Coin (D0A) and make exchanges P2P. For professionals it is possible to upgrade to the premium account with data analysis tools, personalised advisory, advertising module and greater capacity to deposit of the artworks.

ART System

The Artup.Systems web platform is the workspace dedicated to the developer community. Here are the A.P.I. open source (or for a fee) to integrate ARTup services into software developed by third parties; here the external IT developers who want to collaborate with ARTup to develop the phygital ecosystem find some rewarding collaboration proposals such as eg. software development or debug requests; artup.systems is the forum where the mathematical model of calculation of the Art Coefficient is discussed, perfected and implemented.

User segments

Producer

The certified value of an artist's signature and the authenticity of the artistic production facilitate the display in places of value and the marketing of artworks, including second and third tier market.

JOB TO BE DONE

- Make a good deal
- improve asset's management
- Buy liquid value
- Owning an authentic artwork
- Bet on the Phygital Revolution
- Turn trader to part of the value chain
- Invest in innovative "phygital" artistic and financial products.

Trader

The decentralisation of payments and the digitalisation of the fruition processes enable new buyers to the art market.

WHISHES

- own an original work
- be a v.i.p.
- support an artist
- earn from the investment

CONCERNS

- Buying a artwork that has no value
- Do not re-convert the investment

Promoter

Ensuring transparency to the value chain and the certification of the value of an artwork breaks down the barriers to entry to the market and increases the profitability of investments in contemporary art, systematically also including the second and third tier promoters

JOB TO BE DONE

- Certify the production value
- Do other exhibitions
- Increase notoriety
- Selling the artworks produced
- Digital transition

CONCERNS

- Not finding access to the global market
- Not getting attention
- To bear the costs of production, archiving and distribution of one's works

WHISHES

- Living off your work
- Increase notoriety
- Being able to exhibit in prestigious places
- Be recognised, appreciated, rewarded

ART Coefficient

Competitor direct

The direct competitors of the Art Coefficient service are natural persons who are experts in the art world, i.e. art historians or gallery owners called upon to appreciate the works of art of others, issuing the so-called "expertise" in exchange for a fee. They do not declare the method used to calculate the value of a work of art, so the appraisals are not very transparent, have extremely high costs and very long evaluation times. Furthermore, there are many problems related to language barriers and translation costs which make it practically impossible to carry out expertise in other languages.

«Give me a million[e] and I'll tell you it's a Giorgione, give me a billion [miliardo] and I'll tell you it's a Leonardo»

All indirect competitors always focus on the evaluation of the work of art rather than on the notoriety of the person who creates it, effectively making it impossible to certify the authenticity of a work of art.

Competitor indirect

ARTup

Competitor direct

Competitor indirect

ARTup's direct competitors are new generation web platforms that offer tokenization services only for digital artworks; ARTup instead introduces an innovative industrial process for the digitization of physical assets, hence "phygital".

ARTup's indirect competitors are the big Promoters already established on the art market, who tend to appreciate art objects rather than authors, updating an exclusive market that tends not to consider II and III level producers.
